NATIONAL UNION REPUBLICAN CIRCUS.

The National Union Republican electors of New York are requested to meet at the State House, on Saturday evening, March 30th, at 7 1/2 o'clock, to nominate candidates for the General Assembly.

HENRY H. FAY,

Chair. State Co., Conn. for Newport Co.

Providence Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

THURSDAY.

In the afternoon the anniversary of the Education Society was held. The opening services were conducted by the Rev. James A. Dean, of South Dighton, Mass., who also delivered an address upon the importance of maintaining a high standard of education among the clergy and laity or the denomination. The Methodist Church now has twenty colleges over one hundred seminaries, and three Biblical Institutes, including the one that has recently been organized by the merciful donation of half a million dollars from David Drew of New York. Upon the subject of ministerial education, there is no difference of opinion among Methodist Church members at the present time. Yet we must do what we can to extend the benefits of education more widely among those who are in the ranks of the clergy. In the years to come, an educated ministry is needed to combat the tide of rationalism that is setting in through the land, even in the orthodox denominations. It is needed in order that the clergy may lead the people in intelligence. These necessities are urgent, and to supply them funds should be liberally provided. Again, education is needed among the laity, to rouse up their intelligence and strength of the Church greatly depends.

Rev. Vernon A. Cooper, of Mystic Bridge, Conn., then presented the claims of the New England Educational Society, after which the crowded audience was dismissed with the benediction.

MEMORIAL SERVICES.

Thursday evening was devoted to a commemorative service, with reference to those ministers of this body who have died during the year which has just closed. These exercises were of a most impressive character, and the announcement that they were to be held drew forth an immense congregation, which filled the Church completely, even the aisle being crowded. Rev. Dr. Frederick Upham, presided. The opening services were conducted by the Rev. Wm. Livesey. Rev. Geo. W. Brewster made the first address, which was a memoir and eulogy of the Rev. Wm. S. Simmons. This deceased brother was born in Bristol, R. I., in 1813, was converted at the age of fifteen; was licensed and took an appointment at Pawtucket in 1837, and continued in the ministry until his recent death in the village of Hopkinton. As a pastor he was faithful and successful. He lived devoted to the cause of Christ, and died peaceful and happy.

Rev. W. H. Farrington spoke in reference to the decease of Rev. Abel Alton. This brother's native place was New Hampshire, but he joined the Maine Conference in 1828. He was a sound and reliable preacher, but constitutionally different and unsuited. He entered into rest in the full assurance of a glorious immortality.

Rev. J. B. Blodget gave sketches of the late Revs. Lorenzo Dow, Johnson and Herman Perry. The former was born in Wethersfield, Vt., in 1805. He was ordained at the age of twenty-one, and died on the 8th of January last. He was a man of fearless activity and perseverance. The end of all his labors was the good of man and the glory of God. He left a spotless record and the short but great results of a consecrated life.

Rev. H. Palmer Perry was born in Sandwich, Mass., in 1794, and died February 14, 1867. He was obliged to take a superannuated relation in 1841, but of an afflicted rheumatism in the sacred desk, rather than that God's house should be without a minister. An obituary notice was also read of the widow of Father Perry, who followed him to the better world at the expiration of a short interval from the time of his decease.

Rev. S. W. Coggeshall, D. D., gave an extended account of the life and labors of the Rev. Daniel Webb. Father Webb was born April 13, 1778. He was ordained at Lyne, in 1800; was transferred from the New England to the Providence Conference in 1812. From 1856 to 1861 he was stationed at Barnstable, Mass. In 1863, after an effective service of sixty-four years, he was superannuated. He had the reputation for years, of being the oldest effective preacher of any denomination in the world. He died at Barnstable during the present month, within a few days of having completed his 90th year.

Rev. L. E. Upton added a brief tribute to the virtues and services of Father Webb, and concluded the services by appropriate references to the deaths of Rev. Ormondo N. Brooks, and of the wife of Rev. Ebenezer Blake.

BRIEF FROM NEW-ORLEANS.—Gen. Sheridan has been held by the Indians in Louisiana, as he is very apt to do in case of emergency. He has run over Major Monroe and Judge Abell, of New Orleans, and A. S. Herron, the Attorney-General of the State, from office and appointed others in their places. This step no doubt was imperatively necessary to the proper enforcement of the laws of Congress. These officials have contributed largely to the bitterness and hostility which have broken out in New Orleans, and which have so greatly retarded the work of restoring peace and order to that community. Gen. Sherman, as the Military Commander of that District, has full power to hold all movements in check and he is most likely to shrink from the responsibility of doing it.—N. Y. Times.

The following extraordinary story concerning an extraordinary appetite, is taken from the New York Evening Gazette: "A country bumpkin at Utica, in this State, lately ate at a single meal, the largest square pie-butt weighing full of cold baked potatoe, twenty-four raised biscuits, cut with six cups, two pounds cheese, two pounds loxes, two pounds crackers, one pound butter, two dozen herrings, six cookies, one mile pie basket on square tin, washing the whole down with a glass of brandy. 'We'll do.

Charles O'Neill, a murderer, escaped from the Albany County (Iowa) jail a few days ago, but as he is in his stocking feet, he had to go in a house "to warm" where the up farmer nabbed him, and gets the $100 reward offered by the sheriff.

Samuel Tait, Jr., a well-known druggist of Dayton, Ohio, was waylaid, Wednesday evening on a bridge near his mill. He was shot and robbed, and it is thought he cannot recover, or else to the murderer.

A detective has found at Gilman, N. H., a large amount of stolen dry goods and clothing, taken by a dishonest clerk named Durrell, from a store in Lowell. The peculation is thought to have extended over several years, and to have caused the firm to go into insolvency. Durrell and his brother, and some others of the family, are under arrest.

The managers acknowledge these donations most gratefully, together with the friendly services of Mrs. E. Cobleigh. Mrs. G. Cobleigh, Mrs. Peckham, Miss Anthony, Miss Anderson, Mrs. W. Wilson, Mrs. Brown, and two young ladies from the printing office, who have all kindly given their time and some evenings to the Home, assisting most materially in the service for the establishment.

Third from Her Injuries.—Mrs. Watson, who was injured by falling down stairs at her residence on Swanburne, Peckham & Co.'s Wharf, last Sunday, died this morning. She was a God-fearing woman.

Religious Intelligence.

A letter from London by "Burleigh" to the Boston Journal says, "Mr. Sargent's church was formed in 1850. It is an open Communion Baptist, but allows no members but those who have been immersed. Other Baptist churches are more liberal than his. Some of the most important and prominent allow persons not immersed to become members of the Church, and also deacons."

Bishop Clark will be present in this city, tomorrow, and officiate in the several churches as follows: In Trinity in the morning, Zion in the afternoon, and Emmanuel in the evening, administering the rite of confirmation at each church.

A correspondent at Bristol thus speaks of the religious interest at that place: "The revival still continues though with material abatement in the number of conversions. Religion is the town talk. Prayer meetings are held in the sugar house, the factories, and in some of the schools. The engine company and the artillery company meet to pray when they formerly met to dance. Prayer meetings are held by all the churches every day in the week. On Tuesday evening a young convert celebrated the 20th anniversary of his marriage by holding a neighbourhood prayer meeting in his house, at which eighty persons were present. Some very hard cases and bitter opponents have yielded."

New Jersey Methodist Statistics.—The following are the statistics of the Newark M. E. Conference:

Peerless Cooking Stove.

Here is the opinion of the editor of the Boston Journal.—We have been very much pleased in examining a stove of this pattern, manufactured by Messrs. Pratt & Wentworth of Roxbury for the Parkes' position, at the store of W. F. Shaw & Co., 569 Washington Street.

It is one of the most beautifully finished articles of kitchen furniture we have ever seen, the mouldings being elegantly finished, the knobs and handles silver plated, the tank and hot closet are all of German silver, all the hollow ware used on the stove is finely enamelled, and the tea-kettle is of burnished copper.

Among the peculiar merits claimed for this stove is the complete ventilation and even temperature of the oven, making it roasting rather than a baking oven, which is secured by a peculiarly constructed air-chamber, which heats the air as it passes down behind the fire pot and into the oven, raising the oven to bake or roast perfectly and evenly, a great desideratum with a careful housewife; the perfect control which can be kept over the fire, and its cleanliness. This stove works equally well with coal or wood. These stoves are of different sizes, and are made plain or with an extension top, the latter being made with a large reservoir for hot water on ice top, and a warming closet underneath. Those of our readers who would like to keep up with the times will do well to call and examine this "Peerless stove."

FROM WASHINGTON.

Special Dispatch to THE BOSTON JOURNAL.

WASHINGTON, March 29.

The question of adjournment was finally settled at a late hour this afternoon. The President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House will adjourn their respective Houses at noon to-morrow the 30th of July, when, unless there should be a quorum of each House present, they will adjourn their respective Houses without day—that is, Congress will adjourn from to-morrow its regular day of meeting in December next, having made provisions for a session in July should a quorum of the two Houses deem it advisable to come here.

Mr. Sumner opposed this adjournment without having cut the Gordian knot of the suffrage question by the enactment of a law securing political rights in all the States precisely as civil rights have been secured in all the States. In his opinion, it was the duty of Congress to interfere under the Constitution as recently amended, and exercise a power that clearly belongs to it and settle the whole suffrage question, so that it shall no longer agitate the politics of the States.

Mr. Wilson agreed with Mr. Sumner that it was the duty of Congress to enact a general law establishing universal suffrage, and Mr. Dix had the declarations of the Massachusetts Senators taken down, to be telegraphed to Connecticut and used in the political campaign there.

A majority of the Union Senators, however, were averse to adjourn here now to enact a uniform National Suffrage law, and some openly favored opposition.

Senator Sherman declared that in his opinion the question of suffrage is entirely within the power of the States.

We have imposed upon the conquered South, as a condition, universal suffrage as one of the results of the war, and in Mr. Sherman's opinion the people of the Northern States will confirm the institutions to that doctrine: but he expressed doubts as to whether it is in the power of Congress to say who shall vote in Ohio under the plain provisions of the Constitution and the Constitutional Amendment fully construed together.

It was very evident that these views of Mr. Sherman were induced by other Republicans

Senators, and that no Civilian Suffrage bill could be passed now.

In the House "Impeachers" made their last effort. The House having refused to concur in the Senate's resolutions to adjourn, Mr. Clark of Kansas submitted, as a question of privilege, a joint resolution seeking the action of the Judiciary Committee of the 39th Congress upon the subject of impeachment; that the committee made a report and recommended a further investigation; that the committee had not had sufficient time to prosecute this investigation; and declaring that it was dangerous to leave the country under the control of the President until the question was settled, and resolving, therefore, that the President of the Senate and House be directed to adjourn their respective Houses on Saturday, March 30, at 12 o'clock, to meet again upon the first Monday of June to receive the report of the Judiciary Committee upon the subject of impeachment, and to prosecute such other business as should be brought before Congress. On this report in there was an interesting and important debate, after which some and some protracted skirmishing Mr. Clark's proposal was laid on the table, and the House then passed the Senate resolution to adjourn by a vote of 100 to 65, nays 45. This is regarded as a declaration by the House that thus far no ground for the impeachment of President Johnson had been found.
